ST. AUGUSTINE'S TROJANS FETED

President "Bob" Quinn of the Boston Red Sox Special Guest and Speaker at Banquet in K. of C. Hall

"Play honestly and play hard," was the advice given by President "Bob" Quinn of the Boston Red Sox at the banquet to the St. Augustine's Trojans held in the Knights of Columbus hall on Wednesday evening. Mr. Quinn cautioned the young men on the team against crabbiness, and told them to work hard to overcome obstacles both in athletics and in other duties in life, thereby winning success. He said that teamwork in anything was the greatest factor in all lines of activity.

Mr. Quinn is especially interested in junior league teams which have come to the forefront in athletics this year as never before, and the boys of the Trojan team have had a very successful season winning seven out of twenty-two games played. Only their last defeat at the hands of the Legion Juniors kept them from the league championship.

The banquet was given by the boys by Rev. C. A. Branton, O.S.A., pastor of St. Augustine's church, and the members of the troop committee, James Greeley, John Davis, Dr. J. J. Daly, W. J. Doherty, W. A. Doherty, John Sweeney, M. A. Burke, Joseph McCarthy, W. H. Welch, Edward McCabe and Henry Page who managed the team.

Mr. Burke acted as toastmaster and introduced Mr. Quinn, who was given a round of applause. Father Branton also made remarks and congratulated the team on its success. Invited guests included Rev. Richard A. Branton, brother of the pastor, James Cole, coach of the American Legion junior team and Joseph Lynch of the Ivy club team of Ballardvale.

The banquet which was served by Lydon of Lowell consisted of creamed chicken on toast, mashed potato, green peas, relishes, assorted cakes, coffee and ice cream.

The members of the team are Joseph Davis, captain and catcher; Fred Sullivan, pitcher; Edward Winters, first base; Jerry Winters, second base; Frank Sweeney and John Macartney, short stops; Frank Davis, third base; James Doherty, John Winters, Gus Winters, Joseph O'Brien and James Smith, out fielders.

Rails Torn Up

The rails of the Eastern Massachusetts street railway company were torn up between Stimpson's bridge and discontinued for the present while North Main street is under construction. Buses have been put into service and are being used between Andover Hill and Stimpson's bridge where passengers change to the street car. A new track will be laid on the west side of the road so that the road may be widened.

OPENING OF PHILLIPS ACADEMY

Paul Revere Hall Is Ready for Occupancy—New Library and Dining Hall Near Completion—Changes in Faculty and Faculty Residences

HIGH SCHOOL OPENS

Enrollment Slightly Less Than Last Year—Public School Year Begins Next Week

Punchard High school opened Wednesday morning with an enrollment of 305 pupils divided as follows: Seniors, 55; juniors, 66; sophomores, 90; and freshmen, 94. The enrollment number in 1928 was 317. A few more are expected to enter the institution next week.

The grade schools open on next Monday.

A delegation of citizens from the vicinity of High street and Burnham road appeared before the school committee at the meeting held Tuesday evening and presented a petition to the board for transportation for the small children in their district to and from school. In view of the fact that there is so much traffic on Burnham road and High street while those roads are being used for detours until the North Main street job is completed they are extremely dangerous for the little folks. These roads are very narrow and several accidents have occurred in the vicinity recently. There are no sidewalks located on them. The school committee voted to take the matter up with the selectmen.

The sub-committee on buildings and grounds reported on the proposed junior high addition.

During the summer the old Punchard building was repaired.

At Punchard High school two new teachers are on the faculty this year. They are Miss Agnes M. Swanson of North Easton who succeeds Miss Louise Wright, resigned, and Miss Miriam Willis of Gorham, N. H., who succeeds Miss Annette Mason, resigned. Miss Swanson is a graduate of Boston University and Upsala College. She specialized in American and English literature, grammar composition, and rhetoric. She had three years experience at Northbridge High school. Miss Willis is a graduate of Tufts college and taught in Rockland, Maine; Leominster, and Mr. Vernon, N. Y. These appointments were confirmed at the meeting of the school committee held Tuesday evening.

The following grade school appointments were also made Tuesday evening. Miss Helen Sargent of Sedgewick, Maine, was appointed to take over the 5th and 6th grades in the Shawheen school. She is a graduate of Casco Normal school and has had several years experience in West Tremont, Brewer, Maine and Lexington. Miss Anne Harnedy will take over the duties of principal in the Shawheen school to succeed the former Miss Genevieve McNally, who was married recently. Miss Laura A. Downing of 10 Argyle street, Shawheen Village, was appointed to succeed Miss Verville Thurlow at the North School. Miss Downing is a graduate of the Farmington Normal school and has had three years experience.

The wonderful metamorphosis begun on Andover hill last year has continued with unabated industry during the summer months. Ancient buildings have moved from their foundations, and even Rabbits hill is melting away before the onslaughts of a steam shovel and busy trucks. The Samaritan house, which has stood for a more than a hundred years on Chapel avenue, has settled onto its new site on School street between the old science building and Clement house, and the Stowe house, built in 1828 now stands on Bartlett street opposite the end of Wheeler street. The former site of the principal's residence has been graded into an open lawn until such time as a new chapel shall rise in its place.

The Phillips gateway has been removed from the east campus to the opposite side of the street where a new stone wall has risen to correspond with the one built last year. The training field, where the Memorial tower stands, is enclosed with a chain fence supported by granite posts. The new dining hall will not be ready for use until the middle of the year, but it is hoped that the new library can be occupied in a month or two. The new heating plant, which will take care of the greatly increased number of buildings, is ready to put into operation.

The ponds on the game preserve with their dams and shrubbery covered islands await the flow of water and new roadways are being laid out so that visitors may visit it with the greatest convenience.

Paul Revere hall, the new dormitory, is ready for occupancy and will help to take care of the largest registration ever accommodated at the school. In this hall are rooms for fifty boys, but the removal of the third stories from Foxcroft and Bartlett halls allows provisions for only an extra twenty-five. In addition to students from nearly every state in the Union, Honolulu, Japan, China, Syria and Korea will also be represented.

Six new teachers will become members of the faculty. A Buel Trowbridge, a graduate of Cornell in 1920, who also took a degree in theology at Oxford in 1923 and comes to Andover from the Hill school, will have charge of the religious work of the school and teach related courses. He will live at Johnson hall in the apartment occupied last year by Mr. and Mrs. Allan V. Heely who are spending the year abroad.

William Stephens, P. A. 1924, Harvard 1928, will teach mathematics and live at Bishop hall.

James Andrew Clarkson, Dartmouth 1929, will be an instructor in mathematics and chemistry with his residence at Day hall, formerly occupied by Richard Vaughan, the baseball coach, who is taking up graduate work at Yale.

The proctor at Paul Revere hall will be Emory S. Basford, who comes from the Tome school at Port Deposit, Maryland. He will teach English, having been graduated from Johns Hopkins in 1921.

Donald Merriam Leith, Harvard 1929, will teach history and live at Day hall.

For boiling down fruit juice and sugar in jelly making, use a large, flat-bottomed pan, to hasten rapid evaporation.

Snaps fasteners on the shoulder straps of a dress slip which must be worn with dresses of different lengths will enable you to adjust the length easily at two or more levels.

Stains made by water containing iron can be taken off a porcelain bath tub or enamel sink by using oxalic acid solution. Oxalic acid is a poison and should be carefully washed off after using. Keep it out of reach of children.

Make a rhubarb betty for dessert, with fruit and buttered crumbs, alternately, just as you would make apple betty. You can use either stewed or uncooked rhubarb, and sweeten to taste. If you use the uncooked rhubarb, cover the baking dish for the first part of the cooking, then remove the lid and brown the top crumbs. Sift a little cinnamon or nutmeg over the top.

Fruit whips can be made of any fruit pulp of pronounced flavor and color. Heat the pulp to dissolve the added sugar, and combine while hot with the stiffly beaten egg whites so as to cook the eggs partially and give body to the mixture. For one cup of apricot or prune pulp allow one half cup of sugar and the whites of three eggs. Whipped cream is a delicious addition to cold fruit whips.

Mothers who want their children to have sun baths on a beach or in a park playground, sometimes have to take them in a street car or automobile to the place where they are to play. An attractive sun ensemble can be made, consisting of the sun suit itself, with the lower part of a soft printed cotton material and the upper section of cable net, and a matching dress which is slipped on off as occasion requires. The little sun suit is made from an ordinary romper pattern, cut away around the arm holes and neck, with very abbreviated legs.

After an apple pie is baked, lay thin slices of cheese over the top, and put in a very moderate oven until the cheese is melted. Serve at once while the cheese is warm.

Mother: "Why, Michael! What do you mean by talking to your sister in that rude manner?"

Son: "Aw, we're only playing I'm a traffic cop."

THEATRES

METROPOLITAN THEATRE

Thomas Meighan, celebrated star of stage and silent screen makes his debut in talking pictures at the Metropolitan Theatre starting Thursday, September 5th, in "The Argyle Case."

Many will remember this sensational murder mystery stage success now adapted to the talking screen, with a cast of distinguished and talented artists, including H. B. Warner, Lila Lee and Zazu Pitts in the principal roles. In this story Mr. Meighan stars as the master-detective who deftly unravels the mystery surrounding the death of the wealthy John Argyle. The forceful and manly presence of Thomas Meighan is augmented by his remarkable speaking voice, which has been perfectly recorded in this Warner Bros. Vitaphone production. A number of other important screen players are included in this well-constructed drama, which provides many thrilling situations, surprises, suspense and robust comedy.

Dave Rubinoff takes the conductor's baton and will direct the Metropolitan Grand Orchestra in a specially arranged overture whose main theme is one of the popular hits of the day. Rubinoff will also present one of his masterful solo selections as a pianist. The overture, "The Argyle Case," which has been heard in his past Metropolitan engagements will welcome the news of his return, which promises exceptionally brilliant programmes, and ushers in the musical part of the elaborate New Show World entertainment to be presented during the coming season at New England's popular showplace.

Alex Keese, now in his second week, has won the hearts of every audience before which he has appeared. This vibrant, youthful musical personality is a gifted violinist in addition to being the leader of the popular stage band, which this week serves as the background for "Marathon Frolic," a snappy Public review, starring Joe Brown and featuring four stage principals and the Dave Gould Marathon Steppers—a cast numbering nearly twenty, in addition to the band.

The week of September 12th will bring to the talking screen Evelyn Brent, Jack Oakie and Richard "Skeets" Gallagher in Paramount's latest comedy romance-drama, "Fast Company."

"Here and There," R. H. Burnside's mammoth musical spectacle, which has been running at the Atlantic City Auditorium all summer, is booked to open in the Boston Opera House next Monday evening, September 9th. The engagement is limited to two weeks, with two performances daily.

The music is by John Philip Sousa and Raymond Hubbell, and the huge cast of famous principals is headed by DeWolf Hopper, America's premier buffoon. Pennington, Ethel Jane Walker, Violetta Code, Virginia Dudley, Thelma Goodwyn, Sybil Kama, Edna Greenleaf, Catherine Allen, Elsa Paul, Arthur Cunningham, John Lambert, Ralph Brinnard, Gus Wickes, Carl Bunn, Lew Lorimer, Tom Ross, John Parks, Ralph Thomlinson, John Murphy and John O'Meara.

Among the celebrated dancing organizations to be seen are the Tiller Troupe, the Albertina Rasch ballet, the Lenora Dancing Girls. Other features are Zano and Salo's famous tumbling clowns; Joe Jackson, the tramp comedian; Katie Schmidt, champion of European ice ballet; Kathleen Pope and William Frick, peerless American skaters; "Big Rosie," the laughing and singing elephant; Mica and Michael, European dancing dancers; and stupendous singing and dancing ensembles with scenic backgrounds of gorgeous lighting, made possible by superb electrical equipment devised especially for this production.

James Napier and Fred Hulme attended the A.O.U.V. convention in Boston Wednesday evening.

This has been the busiest summer the Andover school board has ever known. The new building which is located just east of the John Dove schoolhouse, has been made only one story in height, at present, but as was planned, the roof has been so constructed that it can be raised without reconstruction to allow for additional stories. Two large rooms, sanitariums and storerooms occupy the space outside the boiler room in the basement of the new structure. There are four large classrooms on the main floor. The kindergarten quarters will be on the south and one of the north rooms will be used for sloyd work.

A covered passage will lead from the new structure to the John Dove building. The old boiler rooms in the John Dove building have been converted into well-equipped sanitariums and a retiring room for the teachers has been provided, an innovation which is sure to be appreciated. Another new feature is a supply room in the basement, where text books, chalk and other articles can be stored until they are needed. About $800 worth of grading has been done about this building and the new one. In the Purnchard school two closets north of the corridor on the main floor have been made into a private office for the principal of the school. A large locker room has been fitted up for the boys in the basement and a private toilet room has been provided for the male teachers. The sanitariums have been located in the space formerly occupied by the coal bin. In the girls' basement a room has been set apart as a dressing room for their use and the lady teachers will have a retiring room of their own. New sanitariums have been installed in the Indian Ridge and Bradlee school houses, and considerable grading of the grounds about them has been done. Private rooms for the teachers have been fitted up at the Bradlee and Indian Ridge schools. E. W. Pitman is the contractor who is constructing the new building. W. H. Welch is installing the heating apparatus and the plumbing in the Purnchard and John Dove schools. The plumbing work at the Indian Ridge and Bradlee schools has been done by Saunders, Hardy and Cole have done the carpenter work at these two schools, also at the John Dove school.

Rev. J. Austin Richards returned last week from his trip to England and Scotland, and on Friday left for New York to take up his work as pastor of a church there. He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. J. F. Richards, who will spend the winter with him.

Monte Whitcomb, manager of the corner grocery has returned from a trip to his home in Canada. He and his brother traveled on the train which was smashed by the Montreal express, they leaving it at Sherbrooke, P.Q., the station before which the accident occurred. Both were in the smoker, every occupant of which was killed.

Cleaning Varnished Wood

Varnished wood is best cleaned with cold tea strained from the leaves. If the wood is very dirty, a little warm soap and water may be used, but only to remove the outer dirt; the tea will not injure the varnish.

Topsfield Fair

The greatest Topsfield Fair that has ever been presented by the Essex Agricultural society will be held at the fair grounds on the Newburyport turnpike in Topsfield next week.

The fair that "Tops Them All", the third largest and the cleanest fair in Massachusetts, will open next Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock and will continue without interruption until 10 o'clock Saturday night.

There will be something going on every minute of the four days and nights.

To miss this year's fair will be to miss the best outdoor exhibition ever held in Essex County. So keen is the interest in the fair that the management is planning to handle 150,000 patrons during the run of four days and four nights.

It is not necessary to visit the fair in the daytime to view the remarkable exhibits or to enjoy the thrills which always go with the Topsfield Fair. It has become a day and night attraction and the brilliant night illumination of the grounds after dark produces artificial sunshine that makes an evening visit enjoyable and novel.

In all of its 30 departments, the Topsfield Fair will be overcrowded. No such demand for exhibition space has ever been known by Secretary Ralph H. Gaskill who has, for the first time this year, been obliged to refuse exhibits of the highest class because of lack of housing facilities.

Despite its marked change from a cattle show to a horse show, the Topsfield Fair has lost none of its old time titillating features and this year the new cattle barn will hold full blooded cattle, selected from the pick of the herds of the famous dairy farms of New England.

In the new poultry house, already far short of meeting the demand of Essex County breeders for space, there will be shown thousands of the finest types of poultry. The turkey show will be a new feature.

The horse show, for which a new exhibition ring, surrounded by permanent boxes and bleachers with a capacity of 1000 has been built within the track enclosure, has an entry list of more than 200 horses. Among the exhibitors will be Ex-Gov. Alvan T. Fuller, whose recent $20,000 acquisition, "Zane Grey" is expected to be the sensation of the show. In addition to more than 30 other exhibitors, there will be from 10 to 15 Mexican thoroughbreds from several stables. Among the Morgan breeders whose horses will be well represented are Mrs. Florence E. Dibble, Oldtown Hill Farm, Newbury, Dr. W. L. Orcutt of Newbury, The United States Morgan Horse Farm at Middlebury, Vt., Stone Farm association of Plymouth, Mass., and Shelburne, N. H. and Mrs. Carl Stockel of Norfolk, Conn.

Judging of the show classes is scheduled for both afternoon and evening and the night show promises to be one of the real attractions.

There will be 200 other horses in the show. Hunters, jumpers and polo ponies will be there in great numbers. There will be 82 different classes including the pulling contests for draft horses to be held Wednesday and Thursday. Every afternoon, the usual Topsfield Fair harness races will be held over the fastest half mile track in New England.

One of the finest displays of floral splendor and beauty will be seen in the new horticultural hall. There will be the grange exhibits occupying an entire building. The north of the hall, the public school exhibits, the demonstrations and contests of the Boy Scouts Saturday morning, the junior judging contests on the same forenoon in which juveniles will rate cattle, swine, sheep, etc. and the Topsfield Fair firemen's muster, with 20 handbills, are a few of the other features.

Fireworks displays every night will be of the usual Topsfield standard.

To make it possible for people without automobiles to reach the fair, the Boston & Maine will run special trains at reduced fares direct to the fair grounds. Parking facilities will be available for 10,000 cars.

PONTIAC BIG SIX

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

Although Pontiac value has been world-famous ever since the first Pontiac appeared in 1926, it has remained for the Pontiac Big Six to prove the greatest value of them all—to be the first to introduce Big Car Performance, Beauty, Comfort and Reliability.

Prices, $745 to $895, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Bumpers, spring covers and Lowsley shock absorbers regular equipment at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Pontiac delivered prices include only reasonable charges for handling and for financing when the Time Payment Plan is used.

Save in Purchase Price
Pontiac is the lowest-priced six in the world combining a 200 cubic inch L-head engine... the Harmonic Balancer... the cross-flow radiator... gasoline pump... two separate braking systems including noiseless, dirt-and-weather-proof internal-expanding service brakes... and bodies by Fisher.

Save in Maintenance
According to the records of a large public utilities company which operated 996 automobiles of 33 different makes during 1928, Pontiac costs one cent per mile less to own and drive than any other low-priced six.

Save in Operating Cost
Pontiac costs less to drive because its automatic spark control assures highest engine efficiency... because the cross-flow radiator eliminates losses of alcohol in winter... because its special non-squeak brake linings frequently serve for more than 50,000 miles without replacement.

Save in Depreciation
Check the offerings of Used Car Dealers and you will find Pontiac's impressive record of performance, ease and dependability has built a ready market for used Pontiacs.

We Rang 587 Door Bells

Last week we rang 587 door bells and asked the housewives in 553 (no answer in the other 34) if they bought bread, and, if so, what kind. We learned that 411 bought 20th Century, thus bearing out our oft-repeated claim that 20th Century Bread is a 3 to 1 favorite. 315 of the 411 were buying 20th Century SLICED Bread, and it was to these 311 we put our final query: "Why do you prefer it? The majority gave one or more of the following reasons:

- has finest flavor
- goes farthest
- keeps fresh longest
- pleases children best
- easiest to handle
- never disappoints

For children's luncheons, for picnics, for toast, for luncheons at the lodge, for economy in the home you will find supreme satisfaction only in

20th CENTURY SLICED BREAD

"Inside" Information

The always hungry boy or girl between nine and eighteen years of age needs plenty of milk, eggs, fresh vegetables and fruits, in addition to the bread and butter, cereals, potatoes, cookies or other energy foods. Allowance for protein and minerals must be made in the foods of growing boys and girls, as well as those which supply energy—sometimes from one to one and a half times as much protein and minerals as a man needs. Lacking the right foods, it might be possible for a diet to furnish sufficient energy but not enough body-building material.

Two omelet secrets: Moderate, even, cooking temperature; serving piping hot. Allow as many tablespoons of milk as you have eggs, and salt to taste. Use a large, heavy skillet, and cook in melted, but not browned, butter. Move the pan about during cooking so that the edges as well as the center will be evenly cooked. Brown the top of the omelet in the oven or directly under a gas flame before turning it out. For a flat omelet, beat the eggs slightly, add the milk and salt, and cook at moderate heat to an even golden brown, top and bottom. Roll in the pan and turn out on a hot platter. For a fluffy omelet, beat yolks and whites separately; add milk to yolks, fold in whites carefully, and pour into a pan large enough to permit the mixture to be about one inch thick. When set, crease in the middle, fold and turn out carefully. Serve at once.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

VERVAIN

ABOUT all that seems to have survived in this country of the once high esteem in which vervain was held in magic and folk-medicine is its reputation as a cure for fever and ague—a reputation which the doctors say is entirely undeserved. But let science say what it may, superstition still calls vervain "favor-wood" and this is little enough as salvage from its once great estate of magical properties.

In former times the vervain was highly esteemed as a love philter and is so today in some sections of Europe. At a German wedding a wreath of vervain is presented to the bride and is supposed to aid her in holding the affections for her husband. In England the herb is thought to be efficacious in staunching a wound, and in France, if gathered in the waning of the moon it is as much regarded for its curative properties as it is in the "fever and ague" districts of the United States. But the French employ an incantation while gathering it which is not done in America. That is the reason, perhaps, why in France it cures not only fever but various other sicknesses.

In the days when witches were more common than they are now, vervain was one of the herbs which they gathered to work their magic with; but also it was regarded as a charm against witchcraft—as it is today in some sections of Europe. Including rural England. All the superstitions regarding vervain are an inheritance from the days of the Druids with whom it was a sacred plant, and if it has lost a portion of its magical reputation today it is probably due to the fact that we have forgotten how to gather it properly. The Druids gathered it only "when the dog-star arose from unseasoned places."

Habits of Wild Horses

Horses are gregarious, that is, their tendency is to herd, and as a rule they graze with the wind, presumably from the same instinct that impels them to face away from a storm. Some believe that in their wild state they depend on wind-carried scent to warn them of danger from the rear and trust their eyes for news of danger coming against the wind.

Mount little skirt, toward the sky. You'll be a bit—bye and bye.

McDonalds Win First Game

Billy McDonald's circuit drive over the left field fence with Mike Jukins on base in the fifth inning and the score tied at two-all gave the B. L. McDonald Miners the opening game of the Greater Lawrence league series over the Carrs at O'Sullivan park on Sunday afternoon. One of the largest gatherings of the season attended.

After holding a one run advantage until the first half of the fifth inning the McDonald Miners again watched the Peter Carrs, first half champions, nine, come from behind and score four runs and incidentally triumph in their second straight win in the Greater Lawrence league series.

Wednesday night's game was played at the Andover playstead and the final score was 4 to 2. Another capacity gathering watched the rival contenders in action. The collection last night amounting to $201.65 after some minor expenses had been deducted.

Erratic playing by the second half champions again aided in their downfall, and gave the Carrs the edge of 2 to 1 in the present five-game series.

The next game will be played this evening at the Hayden-Schofield playstead and it will start at 5:45 o'clock.

In the third home team got its first run of the game when Broaca sent out a slow roller to Moore at second. He advanced on Clark's sacrifice. Ingalls hit sharply to center scoring Broaca.

That run appeared large enough to win until the Carrs came to bat in the last half of the fifth inning.

In the latter frame however, Maccaron was safe on a low throw by Ingalls. Umpire Beirne ruled the runner safe on a close play. Higgins bunted to Broaca who threw to Ingalls forcing Maccaron. Riley's grounder bounced over Ingalls hand for a safe single. Higgins going to third. The latter scored on a play that caused Riley to be run down between first and second. Vaughan was hit by a pitched ball. Hewitt hit safely to center and the Carrs made a bases and a runner throw to center on Bateman's single as Moore scored. Up to the McDonald's fatal fifth but two solitary bingles had been made against Broaca, both coming in the second inning. In the fifth four bingles combined with three costly errors paved the way for the Alderminers.

Broaca had five strikeouts, allowed seven hits and passed one. He also hit two batters. Freddy Maccaron of the Carrs who failed to last in Monday's game went the distance Wednesday night. He held the home team to six hits, passed three and sent the same number down on strikes.

Bateman continued his strong hitting by passing out two safe hits while Mike Jukins contributed a like number for his club.

The Andover Post 8, American Legion Junior baseball team closed its season on the holiday and incidentally observed "Boosters' Day" by trouncing the Ballardvale Town team, 20 to 2, at the Andover playstead.

Jimmy Cole's boys used the hunting game to perfection, scoring almost at will in this department of play, especially in the sixth inning. In the latter stanza the Legionnaires sent no less than 15 men across the plate to put the game on ice without any further doubt.

Tommy Low hurled for the winners and held the visiting team to three hits. He fanned no less than eight batters and issued but two passes. The score:

Many people are introduced to poison ivy or its relative, poison sumac, in a most unpleasant way, because they don't know how to avoid "acquaintanceship" with these plants. Poison ivy is most readily recognized by its leaves, which are always divided into three leaflets, and by its whitish, waxy fruits (though the plants don't always have fruits) that resemble mistletoe berries. "Leaflets three, let it be" is good advice. The leaves of poison sumac are divided into from 7 to 13 leaflets, arranged in pairs, with a single leaflet at the end. Through the winter the plants have cream-colored fruits. Poison sumac grows only on wet land.

To Stop A Leak

A good deal of water can get through a very small leak in a water pipe in a short time, and it is well to know how to stop a leak in emergencies. Put a flat rubber or leather gasket over the leak and hammer a stiff piece of metal, such as a picture hook, to fit over the gasket. Secure both to the pipe with a wire or clasp. A small leak under low pressure can sometimes be stopped by embedding the pipe in richly mixed Portland cement mortar or concrete. It is necessary to shut off the water from the pipe and build a boxing around it to hold the soft mortar closely against the pipe. Broken sewer pipe can be repaired in the same way. A wrapping of wire netting embedded in the mortar or concrete will increase its strength.

"Inside" Information

Tomatoes, fresh, raw, or canned, are a good source of vitamins A, B, and C. Include them very frequently in your menus. Young children and even babies may be given tomato juice.

Variations of the V-shaped neck-line are usually becoming to the round, plump face, rather than a round neck-line which repeats the lines of the face. A square neck is also becoming to this type of face.

Be careful not to cook corn on the cob too long or it will be tough and tasteless. Have a large kettle of water boiling rapidly and drop the corn into the water for from eight to ten minutes, if there are not many ears.

To clean burners on a gas stove, take them out of their sockets and brush off all loose dirt. Boil in a solution of washing soda made by adding 1-2 pound of soda to each gallon of water, for 1-2 hour. Rinse and wipe dry, then put back and light the gas to finish drying off.

Shirred eggs are a pleasant change for breakfast or lunch. Drop the eggs into a shallow buttered baking dish, sprinkle buttered bread crumbs on top, and bake in a moderate oven until the eggs are set. Individual baking dishes may be used, and the eggs sent in them to the table.

With a rich dinner serve a salad with French dressing, not mayonnaise. In making bloomer dresses for children it is a good plan to make two pairs of bloomers as they are likely to wear out before the dress does.

Lyonnaise potatoes are cold boiled potatoes, diced, and browned in fat with chopped onion and served with parsley sprinkled over the top. They make a tasty variation of plain fried potatoes.

When lamb or mutton fat is used in making cream gravy, both the texture and the flavor of the gravy are better if the flour used is browned lightly in the hot fat before the liquid is added.

Waxing or varnishing improves the appearance of linoleum and makes it last longer. Use wax on the inlaid kinds and varnish on the printed ones, for wax sometimes tends to soften the printed surface.

Coffee stains not more than a few hours old on washable fabrics can be removed by pouring boiling water on the stain from a height of two or three feet. Stretch the stained part of the fabric over a large bowl.

The addition of capers, or the liquid in which they have been bottled, chopped pickle, lemon juice, tomatoes, or currant jelly to lamb or mutton gravy is suggested as a change and improvement in flavor.

Probably the most trusting nature is that of the person who goes from house to house with a sample case trying to get orders for something, and thinks no one is at home because the bell isn't answered.—Ohio State Journal.

The Tax Rate

The announcement that the tax rate for 1929 was to be $25.50 per thousand came as good news to most taxpayers. This is an increase of but fifty cents per thousand over the 1928 rate, and when it is considered that the town is engaged in the expensive project of rebuilding North Main street it does seem that the new rate is well within the bounds of reason.

The tax rate has been fairly stable since 1926, when the top figure of $28.80 per thousand was reached. Looking back ten years however, one notices great changes in expenditures of the town. In 1919 the total valuation was $8,262,600. Eight years later in 1927, the valuation had increased to $17,656,352, more than one hundred percent. During this time the tax rate had increased $2.50. In other words eight years had seen the cost of conducting the Town's business more than double.

Few people will begrudge the expenditure of most of this money. The past ten years have seen many improvements that have added much to the prestige of the town and the welfare of its citizens. It will be well to watch expenses closely always, in order to keep the tax rate just as low as possible. Let us hope that another year will see a downward trend again.

New Industries

The City of Lawrence is to be congratulated on its good fortune in having such a large number of new industries locate within its borders. It is understood that twenty new industries, employing five thousand operatives, are to take over the old plan of the Everett Mills. This is undoubtedly the best news that has reached the vicinity in years. These new industries, varied enough, offer many kinds of work, and should practically take care of the unemployment situation in Lawrence.

The Lawrence Chamber of Commerce and City Government have been largely instrumental in encouraging these new industries to Lawrence. They have worked tirelessly toward this end for a long time. Perhaps there is a lesson in this for Andover. The old Tyler Rubber Co. factory on North Main street has been unoccupied for a long time. If any special inducements have been offered to outside interests to locate in Andover, they have not been made public.

The trend of manufacturing has undergone a tremendous change in the last ten years. Specialties have taken the place of staples to a large extent. Automobiles, radios and aeroplanes have the popular fancy. Light clothing such as rayon, silk and cotton are being used largely in place of woollens and worsteds. The absence of any new industries in Andover is entirely too obvious. Every possible encouragement should be offered concerns looking for factory sites to locate in Andover.

Best Wishes

The Townsman offers its best wishes to the B. L. McDonald baseball team in its quest for the championship of the twilight league. Although the Peter Carrs lead in the series to date, two games to one, the Andover team has demonstrated by its splendid uphill fight to win the second half title, that it has the necessary qualifications to overcome this handicap.

Incidentally the attendance at the game on the Andover Playground, Wednesday night, was the largest that has attended a baseball game there for many years. The interest is running high as there is much rivalry between the teams and their respective supporters. Come on, B. L.'s, bring home the bacon!

Fritz Kreisler to Open Musical Season at Phillips Academy

The musical season at Phillips academy will open with a violin recital by Fritz Kreisler on Wednesday evening, October 2nd. Tickets should be procured at an early date as a record attendance is anticipated.

Fritz Kreisler is one of those rarely gifted men for whom success was certain whatever line of work he might have followed. His position among violinists of our time is, to say the least, second to none. In deciding to devote himself to the violin, if the testimony of such a man as Harold Bauer is to be believed, there was no doubt in his mind that he was an equally great pianist. In fact, he is still an admirable pianist and only a few years ago he appeared in London in such a capacity in a concert of chamber music. He had a brilliant career in Vienna when a youth, as a student of medicine. His father is a famous physician and Fritz, had he continued his work in medicine, undoubtedly would have become one of the great men of the world in that profession. When he was working with Massart in Paris he incidentally found time to go to the Beaux Arts and work at painting and his fellows who were then with him say that he showed a very decided talent in that line.

The interesting feature of this versatility is that it has not resulted in a scattering of his talent. If genius has a capacity for work, Kreisler is certainly a genius of the highest class. He is never idle. It was not until 1899 that he decided finally to make the violin his career. He overcame great obstacles and within two years had taken his place among the greatest artists of the world. Today he stands absolutely without a rival in purity of style, beauty of tone and soundness of artistry. Other violinists there are who may have a larger tone. Other violinists there may be who rejoice more in the technical fireworks of violin playing, but there is none today who so combines the classic pose with the fire of romanticism. Whether Kreisler plays an old Italian Concerto by Vivaldi, or the Chaconne by Bach, or the Concerto by Beethoven, or the Concerto by Tchaikowsky, he is always supreme—a final authority in the interpretation of the works of such different periods. For seats write or phone John Dye, George Washington Hall. Phone: Andover 720. Tickets $2.50; $2.00; $1.50.

Lawrence Garden Club Flower Show

The Lawrence Garden Club are putting on their fall flower show on Wednesday, September 11 from one to six at the Unitarian church corner Jackson and Haverhill streets and a cordial invitation to the Andover Club to attend is extended.

Andover Garden Club

The members of the Andover Garden Club will meet with Mrs. Frederic Chandler, 148 Main street, on Tuesday, September 10, at 10.30 a.m.

As this is the annual meeting for the election of officers all members are urgently requested to be present.

Burned Using Gasoline

Mrs. Doris Smith of 204 North Main street was burned about both hands Monday noon when a basin of gasoline in which she was cleaning a dress caught fire. Her mother attempted to light a gas range a short distance away when the fumes ignited. The fire apparatus responded to the alarm which was sounded from box 54. The damage was slight.

The Andover firemen spent several hours Monday afternoon fighting a stubborn brush fire in the vicinity of Den Rock in Shawheen village.

Expects to Enter Bridgton in Fall

Walter Batchelor, former Punchard high athlete, expects to enter Bridgton academy, Me., this fall. He is one of the most outstanding grid men Punchard has had in many years and is expected to make the Maine team this fall.

Besides football he also participates in basketball and baseball. During last winter he played on the Calvary church quintet while during the summer he played with the Andover town team.

Boy Scouts Return

A group of Boy Scouts from Troop 2 of the Free church returned home Monday after enjoying ten days' camping trip at Camp Onway, located on the shores of Lake Onway, Raymond, N. H. While on the trip, a number of the boys passed merit badge test requirements at a court of honor held under the direction of Deputy Commissioner Wendell H. Kydd.

The boys who passed their tests were: Harry Gouck Jr., painting and athletics; Robert Nicoll, athletics, swimming, life saving; Harry Meadowcroft, Jr., first aid, life saving; David Nicoll, public health, swimming, pioneering; Chester Low, pioneering; Edmund Sorrie, swimming; Gordon, athletics; David R. Petrie, painting. All are members of Troop 2 of Andover. Scout Norman Ashton of Troop 2 of Methuen also passed merit badge requirements in athletics.

The eight Andover scouts were selected from Troop 2 and allowed to go on the trip as a reward for the unusual active interest which they showed in scouting during the summer months. During their stay at the camp they were under the personal supervision of Scoutmaster William Haigh, who is in charge of the troop. Mr. Haigh gave willingly and unselfishly of his time in order to be with the boys while aiding them through scouting and helping them to achieve the high ideals for which it stands. It is Mr. Haigh's intention to hold other such camping trips for worthy boys in the future.

Camp Onway is in a beautiful spot on the shores of Lake Onway formerly called Jones Pond and situated in Raymond, N. H. The camp is about 400 feet above sea level and has a beautiful growth of about 40 varieties of trees among them several kinds of pines, oak, maple, hemlock and intermingled with them are several types of white birches. The site lies on the easterly shore and has a fine sandy beach.

Pollination of Fruit Trees

Congressman Edith Nourse Rogers has received the following letter from the Bureau of Entomology, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C.

August 24, 1929
Honorable Edith N. Rogers
House of Representatives,
Washington, D. C.
Dear Mrs. Rogers:

In accordance with your wishes we have requested a number of the Experiment stations to send you their bulletins dealing with the pollination of orchard fruits by honeybees.

While there are scattered references to this subject in the various bulletins of the Department of Agriculture, the information has not been gathered together in a single publication, and for this reason it would seem that the State publications listed below would be of much more use to you:

Apple pollination studies in California, California Agricultural Experiment Station Bulletin No. 426.

Pollination of the Sweet Cherry, California Agricultural Experiment Station Bulletin No. 385.

Pollination and the honeybee, Division of Entomology, Indiana, Publication No. 52.

Pollination of orchard fruits in Michigan, Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station Bulletin No. 188.

Sweet clover, experiments in pasturing, North Dakota Agricultural Experiment Station, Bulletin No. 211.

Pollination and growing of the cherry, Oregon Agricultural Experiment Station, Bulletin No. 212.

Pollination of deciduous fruits, Washington Agricultural Experiment Station, Bulletin No. 223.

Very truly yours,
(Acting Chief of Bureau.)

Gladioli Blooms

Herbert F. Chase, who is widely known as a flower grower, and who specializes in bulbs, brought into the Townsend office today some magnificent sprays of gladioli.

Shaded from pale to deep orchid, one vase contains a group of lovely blooms, the petals of which seem made of silk and velvet. Another vase contains sprays of dark red in two different shades with yellow and white for contrast. A third collection is in sunset hues, bright pink predominating. The size of the flowers is another feature, some being almost as large as lilies.

Some wise guy has remarked that the stork was selected to couple with the doctor because he is the bird with the biggest bill.

Why We Do What We Do

by M. K. THOMSON, Ph. D.

WHY WE LOSE INTEREST

WE GET interested, but we don't stay interested. We lose interest either temporarily or permanently, taking on new interests and casting them off as worn-out clothes. Some interests hold us longer than others.

The reasons for losing interest are fatigue and saturation. We lose interest because we become tired in body and mind and cannot hold our attention on the interest. As much as children love to hear stories, they sometimes get so tired that they lose interest and fall asleep.

True fatigue causes the loss of interest in the economy of health. It is also true that loss of interest due to being fed up on the thing causes false fatigue. Often we think we are terribly tired when in reality we are merely disinterested. We are tired of the thing we are doing and assume that the whole body is tired. We say, "that makes me tired," or "he makes me tired," when we mean that the thing or person referred to does not interest us.

Some interests we lose permanently because our tastes are changing. We grow away from the thing that once held us firmly. Darwin, for example, testifies that after thirty years of research in animal and plant specimens in support of his famous theory of evolution he suddenly discovered that he had lost his interest in literature.

Here is a curious thing in the matter of losing interest. We lose interest if we overindulge in a thing and get fed up and tired if not actually disgusted. On the other hand, we also lose interest if we neglect the thing so that it dies of disuse. To keep up an interest in anything, it seems necessary to indulge moderately and at rather frequent intervals.

Aurora Borealis

There is a discussion on concerning the noise which some persons claim to have heard accompanying the demonstrations of the Aurora Borealis in the northern skies. It has been described as a crisp monotone, like the passage of sleigh runners over the crisp snow. Some explorers claim to have heard this noise, but they state that it was heard under the most favorable circumstances, and, on the other hand, there are other persons who have had the opportunity to see the aurora but who absolutely silent. Another description of this sound is that it was like the swishing of a whip or that of a squall through the upper rigging of a vessel.

Peculiar Fitness of Trees

as National Memorials

A few trees of the millions which people the forests, farms and towns of the United States have been singled out by history to play famous parts and to stand as memorials to great events in the life of the country. "Symbolizing fully as well as tablet or pillar could do, some significant achievement, these trees represent the peculiar fitness of trees as memorials, and it is specially appropriate that they should have a hall of fame of their own," says the Forestry Almanac of the American Tree Association.

Some distinguished trees stand out by reason of their age, such as the General Sherman sequoia in the Sequoia National park of California. Its age is reckoned at 4,000 years, and it has a diameter of 23 feet and a height of 280. Many of the redwoods and sequoias are as old or nearly as old as this one.

When Charles Sumner was senator from Massachusetts he sent to the czar of Russia an acorn from a tree near the tomb of Washington at Mount Vernon. This acorn grew to an oak in the palace grounds in St. Petersburg, and an acorn from it was planted in the White House grounds in Washington in 1904 and is now a prosperous young tree.

Scotch Chestnut Tree

Bids Defiance to Time

In solitary grandeur on the edge of the spacious lawn, directly in front of Bernersyde hall, on the Scottish border, stands a giant chestnut tree. Although it is reputed to be at least nine hundred years old it still gives evidence of vigorous growth. It supports its massive bulk unaided, and, though some of its larger branches have been wrenched off by storms, its trunk is intact, with a girth of fully eight yards at a height of five feet from the ground.

A tradition still exists to the effect that when the lairds of Bernersyde in the distant past received their guests they wanted to give them the right hand of welcome under this ancient tree. But, be that as it may, it is today a peculiarly fitting companion for the gray old pile opposite, for they stand together as they were standing on that momentous day in 1066, when William of Normandy won a kingdom on Senlac hill.

Weddings

ANDREWS—McDUFFEE

In deference to the prominent social and educational connections of the contracting parties, the Baptist church at Alton opened its doors last Saturday that hundreds of guests might witness a spectacle of marriage, the first to be performed in the edifice since 1863. On this latter occasion, Miss Doris McDuffee, only daughter of Mrs. Charles Henry McDuffee, past president of the New Hampshire Federation of Women's clubs, and the late Charles Henry McDuffee, became the bride of Charles Titus Andrews, assistant professor of economics at Boston University.

The nuptials took place at six o'clock and were performed by Rev. W. H. Getchell of North Berwick, Me., a former pastor of the church. The church decorations were in color motif of green and yellow and were in charge of Mrs. William Rockwell Clough of Alton, whose exquisite taste was displayed in the arrangement of evergreen and pine boughs which backed the front of the church, reaching high into the shades of the vaulted sanctuary. Baskets and festoons of greenery, sprinkled with a variety of colorful blossoms to harmonize with the gowns of the bridal party, were suspended over doors, arches and aisles.

Prior to the ceremony, music was played by a trio of musicians, Miss Helen Eaton of Andover, cellist; Miss Frances Masson of Lawrence, violinist; and Miss Eleanor Makant of Lawrence, pianist. With these young ladies the bride completed a quartet which rendered talented musical service to the college life and community work of Andover while she was a teacher at Abbot Academy. The solo number, as a prelude to the wedding march, "I Love and the World is Mine," by M. J. H. was beautifully rendered by Miss Ethelene Smith of Portland, Me., and Alton Bay, well known concert singer and intimate friend of the bride. The wedding march of Lohengrin was played by Miss Annie Wheeler of Alton.

Frederick B. Andrews of Chicago, Ill., attended his brother as best man. Entrance of the bride party was by the left aisle and the ushers came forward by twos, followed by the bridesmaid, ring-bearers, maid of honor, flower girl, the bride on the arm of Herbert J. Jones of Alton, cousin of her late father.

The bridal party retired to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Triumph March," recessional played by Miss Annie Wheeler of Alton, and the path was strewn with yellow roses.

The bride was charmingly attired in a period gown of egg-shell satin with court train, and veil of tulle with rose-point lace cap sprinkled with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white and butterfly roses and lilies of the valley, circled with a necklace of pearls, the gift of the groom. The maid of honor, Miss Leah Parker of New York, cousin of the bridegroom, wore a period gown of rose cosmos moire over white and carried a bouquet of choice garden flowers to match the gown. The bridesmaids were Miss Anna Joy Galeucia of South Berwick, Me., Miss Mildred Hayes of Alton, cousin of the bride; Miss Alice C. Smales of Providence, R. I., student at Columbia University; Miss Florence M. Frye of South Hadley Falls, a teacher at East Hartford, Conn. The last two mentioned were college chums of the bride when at Boston University.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of period design, in pastel shades, yellow, blue, green, pink, and orchid, and carried old-fashioned lace-bordered bouquets of variegated garden flowers. Rev. June Andrews of Chicago, Ill., niece of the bridegroom, acted as flower girl, and was fascinatingly attired in yellow organdie and carried a beribboned basket containing yellow roses and rose petals. Ring-bearers were Masters Harold and Raymond Walch of Waterbury, Conn., sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Walch, formerly of Alton. Each carried a white satin heart-shaped pillow edged with Holland lace and with beautiful platinum orange-blossom pins. The bride wore a crown of white roses and yellow roses. These, the youngest figures to participate in the nuptials, wore black satin Lord Fauntleroy suits, and furnished the desired contrast to a beautiful ensemble of color. Ushers were William J. Ball of Boston, William G. Biederman of Washington, D. C., William Rockwell Clough, Jr., of Alton, a cousin of the bride, and Harvey L. Batchelder of Concord.

Immediately following the nuptials, the entire company, which included upward of 250 guests, repaired to the vestry where the reception was held. The bride and groom were assisted in receiving by the bride's mother, her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Jones, and the groom's mother, Frederick B. Andrews.

At the conclusion of the reception, fifty or more members of the bridal party and invited guests went to the home of the bride where a wedding cake party was held and the immediate attendants of the couple received their gifts. The bride's gifts to her maid of honor, bridesmaids and flower girl were necklaces of oriental pearls. The gift of the groom to the best man was a solid gold cigarette case; gifts to ushers were green gold vest pocket knives; and the ring-bearers were remembered with white gold monogrammed cuff links.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrews left on a month's wedding trip that will utilize various methods of travel, including the possibility of an aeroplane trip, with destination unannounced. They will reside in Boston, where Mr. Andrews will resume his chair as assistant professor of economics at Boston University. Rev. Father Duggan, chaplain of Cardinal O'Connell house, Rev. Joseph Cashan of Duluth, Minnesota and Rev. Father Herlihy of Scituate.

During the mass Gounod's "Ave Maria" was rendered by Miss Margaret LaLiberti of Boston, and at the communion Louis Neal sang Cesar Franck's "Janis Angelicus." Both soloists are friends of the bride and groom.

Before the ceremony Miss Annie G. Donovan played nuptial music and as the bridal party entered the church, the wedding march.

The bride looked charming in a period gown of white satin trimmed with duchesse lace with a court train and a veil of tulle, cap style, held in place with orange blossoms.

GLEASON—REMMEES

One of the prettiest church weddings of the summer season took place on Tuesday morning in St. Augustine's church when Miss Teresa W. Remmes, daughter of Mrs. Augustus C. Remmes of 61 Woodland road, became the bride of Louis E. Gleason, son of Mrs. A. Gleason of Hunting street, Wellesley Hills, at a nuptial mass celebrated by Rev. Walter A. Remmes of Duluth, Minnesota, brother of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Francis B. Remmes, C. S. C., of New Orleans, Louisiana, and the bride was given in marriage by Joseph T. Remmes, both brothers of the bride.

Seated within the sanctuary at the mass were Rev. C. A. Branton, master of ceremonies, Rev. James Callahan of Detroit, Rev. Francis Boland of Notre Dame University, Rev. Father Duggan, chaplain of Cardinal O'Connell house, Rev. Joseph Cashan of Duluth, Minnesota and Rev. Father Herlihy of Scituate.

Seventeenth of March

Once "Noah's Ark Day"

Long before the Irish taught us that March 17 was St. Patrick's day, this date was celebrated in England for a very curious reason. In the Middle Ages it was regarded as the anniversary of the day upon which Noah entered the ark. Noah's Ark day was specially made the occasion for the performance of the mystery play that dramatized with considerable freedom the Biblical record of the flood. In this Noah's wife was always the principal comic character, being depicted as the typical shrew.

The quarrels between Noah and his helpmate created great amusement for the spectators. When the ark is ready the lady stoutly refuses to go in unless she may take some of her friends along. The patriarch, however, will not stand much nonsense, and when the time for embarkation comes he dispatches his three sons to bring their mother aboard. They find her with her gossips in a tavern, and after much rough by-play and broad comedy they seize her and drag her to the ark. Arrived there, she breaks out as a worse termagant than ever; shrieking with rage, she sets about beating her husband, much to the diversion of the spectators of merry England.—Manchester Guardian.

"Inside" Information

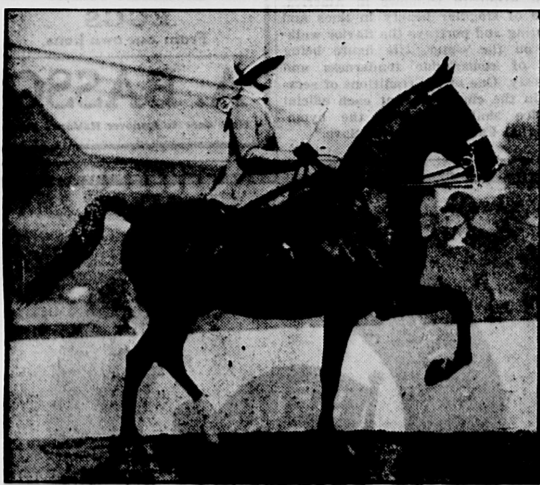

The flavor of pineapple combines unusually well with that of cream or cottage cheese. Honolulu salad consists of a slice of pineapple on a bed of lettuce with a ball or cube of cheese in the center and mayonnaise dressing. The cheese is sometimes mixed with chopped nuts or green pepper or pimento, and seasoned with salt. It may be put through a potato ricer and sprinkled over the pineapple. Chopped pineapple and cheese make an excellent sandwich spread.

Carbon tetrachloride has been found to be the best solvent for removing stains made by cod-liver oil on non-washable materials. If the material can be washed, soap and warm water may be tried first. For very fresh stains, part of the oil may be absorbed by blotting paper, fuller's earth, brown paper, or other absorbents. If the stain is old a bleaching agent may be necessary on white fabrics after using a solvent. Farmers' Bulletin 1474 on stain removal gives detailed directions for taking out stains of all kinds from fabrics. Fry small fish over a low even heat, in a small amount of good-flavored fat, using a heavy skillet. Such fish as perch, butterfish, spots, or smelts, are wiped dry, rolled in flour or corn meal, and put into hot fat without crowding. Reduce the temperature and cook evenly and slowly until a brown crust is formed. Turn carefully and cook on the other side. If turned too soon the fish may break and soak up fat. Filets of flounder and haddock are often rolled in egg and bread crumbs and fried in deep fat, but they may also be floured and cooked like small fish. Serve a section of lemon for squeezing over the fish with each portion. Send fish to the table very hot on a hot platter as soon as cooked.

Dog Wins Prize

"Faugh Abalaugh", an English bulldog owned by Frank Sherry of Ballardvale, and shown by Master Richard Sherry, won the Nick Bulger trophy for the best female dog of Greater Lawrence exhibited at the Milford, N. H. kennel show, and was also adjudged the best non-sporting dog.

At the Canobie Lake dog show Labor Day this dog won three first prizes and was adjudged the best dog of its class.

Other awards have been received at Norumbega Park, Lowell, Lynn, Worcester and numerous other shows.

Just Starting

Little Harry was left in the charge of his grandmother. By noon she was worn out. He took his wagon and rounded up some playmates. By four o'clock they were compelled to have some rest. At six o'clock the pup lay panting under the trees near the house.

Then grandfather came home and took up the burden of entertainment. He took his grandson to a picture show, where Harry was so interested that it was very late before he could be coaxed away. At last a tired man and a little boy again reached home. As the man removed the little boy's coat, Harry said: "Now, grandpa, let's play horse."

Diving Suit Not So New

How long ago is it that the first diving dress was invented? One would suppose it to be a pretty recent invention, says the Outline.

It is somewhat astonishing to find that a patent was granted to John Stapleton on March 17, 1893, for "a new engine so by him contrived as to permit a person inclosed in it to walk under water, and of a new invented way to force air into any depth of water to supply the person in the said engine therewith and for containing a lamp burning under water; also a way to desecrate and purify the air so as to make the same serviceable for respiration."

Plant Heart Beat Doubled

Plants have no beating pulse that propels the sap upward, and such pulsations as have been recorded are due to the trembling of improperly adjusted instruments and not to the beating of the plant, experiments recently performed by several American and European plant physiologists indicate. The findings are directly in conflict with those of Sir Jagadis Chunder Bose, who announced some time ago the "beating heart" theory in regard to plants.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Fair Enough

Phil Falkins joshed Sam Sellers' rather dry for wearin' gray pants with his dinner jacket at Mrs. Olsen's reception. "The pants," grinned Phil. "Is what you might call breeches of etiquette."—Farm and Fireside.

EACH PRESENTED WITH A BEAUTIFUL SPARTON RADIO
DELIVERED BY SPARKS-WITHINGTON CO'S MONOPLANE "MISS SPARTON"

The New England Distributing Co. announce the appointment of the Andover Garage Co. as dealers in Andover for the Sparton Equasonne radio. Mr. C. A. White of the Andover Garage is enthusiastic over the magnificent qualities of the Sparton.

"Our decision to recommend and sell the Sparton to our customers came after a rigid inspection of this radio. It is an enchanting beautiful, mechanically perfect, and its reproduction is vivid and realistic."

The band pass filter which Sparton introduced has brought rich, full super-quality tone. Those who love music and who find expression in its loveliness will be quick to grasp the significance of such a superb instrument. Sparton has revolutionized the entire industry. It has engaged the best talent in America to produce a radio that is America's best.

Critical virtuosos marvel at the clarity and purity in which overtones, the essence and background of music, are reproduced. Radio engineers are amazed at its nicety of balance, and the precision of its construction. Sparton has brought forth a radio of which all can say, "This is the Set supreme."

The many models in which Sparton radios appear are all of enduring splendor. The new Equasonne model No. 931 is a complete new lowboy electric console of 9 tubes. Model No. 301 is an exquisitely carved highboy of pure Italian design, ultra-powered and as grippingly harmonious as a rare old cello.

Dale "Red" Jackson and Forest O'Brine, world-beating endurance fliers and Major C. Bay Wassell and P. V. "Shorty" Chaffee, their refueling crew, were Thursday presented with Sparton Radios by the Sparks-Withington Company of Jackson, Michigan. The ceremony took place at Lambert Field at the end of a day crowded with receptions for the airmen and was witnessed by hundreds of spectators.

A Sparton representative, who made the presentation speech, congratulated the fliers on their amazing feat of keeping their plane aloft more than 422 hours, and predicted that they would again be heard from in making aviation history. The aviators stood beside their beautiful gifts under a wing of the big Sparks-Withington monoplane, "Miss Sparton", and cameramen took several pictures.

The fiery-headed Jackson made no effort to conceal his elation over receiving the radio. Immediately after the presentation he summoned his comely wife and after both had given the set a minute inspection, they asked the Sparton representative to have it installed at once in the home of Jackson's mother where the couple plan to reside.

Mrs. O'Brine also displayed keen interest in the radio and asked numerous questions concerning it, her face wreathed in smiles. Her hero husband appeared much amused over the elation of his wife. He referred all inquiries regarding ownership and disposition of the set to Mrs. McBride.

Wassell and Chaffee were profuse in their thanks for the gifts. They remained for some time after the crowd has dispersed and personally directed the removal of the radios from the field. Plans for donating the sets were made by Sparks-Withington officials as soon as they learned that the endurance fliers had landed their plane. The company monoplane, "Miss Sparton", which is on a tour of the state capitals of the country for the Jackson Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of stimulating interest in aviation, was ordered to proceed from Indianapolis to St. Louis with sets for the fliers. On Wednesday, a similar model was presented Governor Leslie of Indiana. Following the presentation, the "Miss Sparton" left to continue its tour of the states.

Muskrat raising has the advantage over the production of most other fur-bearing animals in that muskrats feed and breed when left to themselves, and all the owner of a marsh-land has to do is to maintain an attitude of "watchful waiting" until the trapping season. Muskrat fur is increasing in popularity, and muskrat raising should receive consideration in any agricultural plan of land utilization, according to the Biological Survey of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Marshes provide the food; the muskrats take care of themselves and, being prolific, will produce enough young for the trapping season.

Chautauqua's Growth

The first Chautauqua assembly, known as the Sunday School assembly, was in session August 4-18, 1874, as the result of a plan formed by Lewis Miller of Akron, Ohio, and Rev. John H. Vincent of New York. The assembly plans widened rapidly in successive years. In 1879 a school for teachers in secular subjects was opened. Probably Chautauqua is best known in connection with the plan of systematic home reading. The plan was proposed and explained in 1878. The first year 7,000 persons were enrolled, and from that time readers, varying in number from 8,000 to 25,000, have joined the circle per season. There are now throughout the United States and Canada more than 550 local assemblies modeled after the original Chautauqua institution.

Thames River Postman

Every morning a bright red row boat may be seen moving about the Thames from London bridge to Wapping, propelled by a single man, who is the postman of the Thames delivering mail matter to the boats anchored in the stream. The weather has no influence on his trips and often he has some trouble in locating the vessel he desires to visit. The craft often move about so that where they were yesterday does not mean that they are there today. Aside from this, his operations are often hampered by fogs, when he is in danger of crashing into some vessel or being crashed into. This vessel has been held by a member of the same family since 1806.

Death-Watch Beetle

Woodworm is the popular name of this enemy insect, and some call it the death-watch beetle, from its habit of making a tapping sound in the woodwork it attacks. No wood is safe from it. While it is generally supposed that it attacks only ancient houses, this is not the case, for it will sometimes appear in a perfectly new house and proceed to bore into the timbers. Roofs and floors are in equal danger, and it will eat a chair, a chest or a picture frame with the same zest.

Not So Good

A fond father who prided himself on his writing ability, being a professional writer, aided his little daughter in preparing a composition on "London" one evening. He edited her sketch and could not refrain from practically rewriting it, adding quite a little polish, he thought. Janey came home the next evening proudly waving her theme. But father felt his feathers fall somewhat when he saw the mark and realized that he had made only A minus in the fifth grade.

Faroe Islands

The Faroes, or Sheep Islands lie between the Shetlands and Iceland. Although they lie nearly 200 miles northwest of the Shetlands, they are actually warmer than many parts of Scotland. The islands are wonderfully immune from almost all forms of disease.

Total Air Traffic

According to the Department of Commerce, one square mile of air space can accommodate 63,980 airplanes. This is based on the calculation that 1,742 large planes can fly at the same level, allowing sufficient clearance between them over an area of a square mile. The same number can fly together 300 feet further up, and so on indefinitely. Assuming 12,000 feet to be the highest practicable elevation, the above total is reached.

Needs Verification

A quaint story runs that a wreath deposited by Emperor William on the tomb of Saladin at Damascus, and bearing his own name as well as Saladin's, was presented by the Arab guardian of the tomb to Colonel Lawrence upon the occasion of his triumphal entry into the city with the Arab forces of the Emir Faisal. But, like other stories centered around that romantic personality, this one should be accepted with due reserve.

HIGH TARIFF MAY BE UNNECESSARY TEN YEARS HENCE

Babson Park, Massachusetts, September 6, 1929. The only reason United States manufacturers need a tariff is because Europe is still in the "dark ages" from an industrial standpoint. We cannot ask our workmen to live on the low wages that foreign workers get. Our wages are high. So is our purchasing power. So are our profits! Everything here is on a level of comfort. Everything abroad is on a level of penury and misery. The unemployment problem of Europe and Great Britain can never be settled by legislation. The only remedy is higher wages, which in turn will create more business and more employment. And the only way Europe can pay higher wages is to cut the cost of production through the use of labor-saving machinery and the adoption of American mass production and distribution methods. This would make it possible for Europe to prosper as America has prospered. These methods would raise European standards of living to a par with the United States. Then this country would no longer have to fear the competition of low-wage European production. We should have competition to be sure, but it would be fair competition. Also there would be the larger world consuming market to compete for! As the wants of foreign peoples increased with their ability to buy, their consumption both of their own products and of imports of the United States would advance by leaps and bounds.

Financial Aid Necessary

"But" it is argued, "the United States was able to prosper so greatly because it came out of the war with abundant financial resources. She has over one-half of the total world's gold supply. Europe can achieve a similar industrial development only with the financial aid of America." There is much truth in this argument. Our bankers have recognized it and have loaned liberally to industrial enterprise abroad. We must continue to finance those developments. It is very shortsighted to say that we are exporting too much capital, and that it may come back at us as a boomerang in the form of competitive merchandise. A broader view of the situation will at once reveal that what we do to establish European industry on a mass production basis will merely stimulate foreign wants and demand for our goods, and thus, and inevitably increase American export trade.

There is one stumbling block to mass production and distribution in Europe, however, which must be overcome. I refer to the various barriers between adjacent countries. The map of Continental Europe is a maze of boundary lines separating nations which are scarcely any larger in area than our individual states. One big reason why national advertising, mass production, and mass distribution are so successful in our country is because there are no customs boundaries between states. Europe is gradually breaking down these tariff walls, however, through reciprocal economic agreements between leading industrialists in the various countries. While there may never be a United States of Europe politically, there is very likely to be one economically before many years.

Prohibitive Tariff Would React on American Business

It is to be hoped that the Tariff Bill now before Congress may finally emerge a moderate one and not a prohibitive one. Politics, and not the interests of the country, has dictated the course of the bill to date. Of course, American industry must be protected from ruinous foreign competition as long as the low wage standards abroad prevail. While we are waiting for that economic expansion which is sure ultimately to raise the European work on a par of wages and purchasing power with the American, in the meantime we must have a tariff of protection. However, if we pass a bill that virtually shuts out all imports, how are we going to maintain our exports? In the last analysis Europe must pay us with goods for the goods we send her. Also, how are we going to aid Europe to establish that higher living standard and larger consuming power so necessary to prevent cut-price competition with American goods, and to expand our own export markets? No, a prohibitive tariff would be sure to react unfavorably upon American business. Furthermore, consider the ill-feeling and retaliation on the part of foreign countries would undoubtedly follow.

Although a few specific industries may feel the need of higher tariff, there is no pressing necessity for a general tariff revision at the present time. It is now generally believed, moreover, that President Hoover will not allow any unjustified boost in duties, but special consideration will be given to depressed industries and agricultural commodities. Also where other industries have a real case for higher duties there is the Tariff Commission to which they can appeal. Instead of trying to overcome foreign competition by legislation, I believe the business men of the United States will do far better to help Europe develop higher living standards and wage levels so that competition will be on a more equal basis. At the same time they will be developing their world markets to a magnitude beyond their fondest hopes. Ten years from now a high United States tariff may be entirely unnecessary.

Mechanization of Europe is Underway

It has been said that Europe can never experience the economic "Golden Era" which America is experiencing, because European peoples are not temperamentally adapted to American machine methods. This theory is rapidly being exploded. Witness our growing exports of modern labor-saving machinery to European ports! Our factory methods are not being intensive studied by foreign industrialists because they seek to discover the secrets of mass production. Our methods of scientific business research are already being applied in foreign lands, especially in Germany. Our great corporations are hastening the spread of our industrial technique by establishing branch factories and distributing agencies all over the world. Nearly every day some big American corporation establishes a branch factory in a European country. With the factory goes American production methods, and ultimately will go American standards of wages and living. Europe can and will adopt our methods because economic world pressure is forcing it to. Great Britain, France, Germany—all have tried to solve their economic problems by legislation and have failed. Now they are willing to try the American way, namely the conscious control of business by business men themselves, and the encouragement of private initiative rather than reliance on government subsidies and doles.

Business by the Babson chart now registers 9 percent above normal compared with 3 percent above at this time a year ago.

"Anna, why did you tell the mistress I came home so late after last night's banquet?" "I didn't tell her when you came in, sir. I merely said that I was so busy getting the breakfast that I did not notice what time it was!"—London Passing Show.

Accepts New Position

Miss Katherine Koch, a graduate of Cannon's Commercial college with the class of 1929, has accepted a position with the Vermont Tea & Butter company in their main office on Market street, Lawrence, as a stenotypist.

Miss Koch is a graduate of the Good Will high school in Maine and she was an honor student while at Cannon's receiving awards in typewriting, rapid calculation and penmanship. She excelled in stenotypy. She makes her home with her sister at 11 Shepley street.

Miss Helen Williams, 4 Sterling street, an employee in the office of Phillips academy is resting as comfortably as can be expected after a serious operation performed at the Lawrence General hospital on Wednesday morning.

Mother's Cook Book

If the law were to edict that man and wife should never be together for more than six months in the year, it would be broken every day, and men and women would stand hunger and stripes to come together for twelve months in twelve. If love of home were a crime, a family life would arise more touching than anything Queen Victoria ever dreamed.—W. L. George.

SEASONABLE FOODS

COOL fruits, frozen ices and tinkling drinks are the things which have the most appeal during warm days.

Have dinner, luncheon or supper served out of doors—in the woods if possible or by the side of a stream or lake. If that is not convenient set a table on the lawn or porch and stay out in the open air as much as convenient.

A cool, back porch makes a fine breakfast room, and many of the vegetables may be prepared for the dinner out there, where one has fresh air and may listen to the birds and bees. Such tasks seem only play with the mind occupied with enjoying the out-of-doors.

Prepare sandwiches and salads and serve such foods often instead of hot meats, pastries and other heavy desserts.

When one has a few fresh fish (not enough to serve for a meal for the family) try a fish chowder.

Fresh Fish Chowder.

Fry five or six tablespoonfuls of finely cubed salt pork in a kettle. When well browned add four to six sliced onions and six to eight potatoes cut into slices. Cover with boiling water and cook until the vegetables are half done, then add the boned fish cut into small pieces and cook until all are tender. Season well with salt and pepper and add six to ten milk crackers to a quart of rich milk heated hot. Serve after the mix has been added to the chowder, and if not rich enough, add butter to season. Serve two crackers in each soup dish.

Very tender young cabbage, shredded very fine and mixed with a bottled dressing makes fine filling for sandwiches.

For another vegetable sandwich—slice firm crisp radishes very thin and lay them on the outered bread with a bit of shredded onion.

Water cress sprinkled with salt is another fine filling for buttered bread.

Simple Boiled Dressing.

Mix together one-half cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of flour and one teaspoonful of mustard. Add one-half cupful of milk and one egg well beaten. Heat one-half cupful of vinegar (mild) in a saucepan and when hot add the other ingredients very slowly stirring constantly. Add whipped cream when using. This will keep indefinitely.

Ownership

An Indianapolis family having a little boy five years old visited friends in a western city. In the course of conversation they discussed a very rich and powerful Mr. S—, who owned the hotel at which the guests were staying, the apartment in which the friends lived, a bank and a department store. Although the little boy did not seem to pay much attention to their talk, the next day at the bench he asked: "Mother, is this Mr. S—'s bench?"

"No," mother replied.

"Who owns the bench?" was the next question.

"God owns the bench," was the reply.

"But mother, how did God get it away from Mr. S—?" was the final query.—Indianapolis News.

"Makers of the Flag"

On Flag day, 1914, before the employees of the Department of the Interior, Franklin K. Lane, then secretary of the interior, made an address which ended: "I swung before your eyes as a bright gleam of color, a symbol of yourself, the pictured suggestion of that big thing which makes this nation. My stars and my stripes are your dream and your labors. They are bright with cheer, brilliant with courage, firm with faith, because you have made them so out of your hearts. For you are the makers of the flag and it is well that you glory in the making."
